VIENNA: THE RED CITY

HERITAGE MATTERS

Vienna is celebrated as the World Music City. The surprising aspect of it is the social housing that is used by nearly 62% of the population. It is also called the Red City because of its socialist features. It is the most human to reside reasonableness and overall health. The city was the capital of the Austro-Hungarian Empire. It was the leading European music centre with outstanding witness to a continuous interchange of values throughout the second millennium. (Criterion IV): These key periods of European cultural and political history, the Renaissance, the Baroque period, and the Romanticism period were exceptionally well illustrated by the urban architectural heritage of the Historic Centre of Vienna. It has been inscribed on the World Heritage List for the following:

The city centre and protecting its architectural qualities of the Historic Centre of Vienna bear outstanding witness to a continuous interchange of values throughout the second millennium.

The City of Vienna invests in the Red City. It includes a measure on the history and memory of the place.

Ludwig van Beethoven sculptures present a very different view of one of the greatest composers of the modern period. The bronze sculptures is 2 meters high. It is meant to portray the artist's geniality, his difficulties. His deafness, his problems as a human being, in a work. Experts and representatives of World Heritage Cities signed ‘The Vienna Declaration – Preservation, Development and Management of World Heritage in Dynamic City’ on February 12, 2013.

Vienna is emerging as one of the most vibrant multicultural cities in Europe despite the emergence of new cultural forms and trends. Vienna is aware of its valuable heritage elements in their cities.

PROF. DR. AMARESWAR GALLA
director@vicemuseum.org
(Provincial B.Kavun Travancore, Art, Culture & Tourism) at the conference shows the high number of participants. The conferences to upskill and build their knowledge and capacity. It did not see them as either anchors – Conservation and Development of World Heritage.”

\[Image\]

The high number of participants at the conference shows the importance of the conferenices to upskill and build their knowledge and capacity. It did not see them as either anchors – Conservation and Development of World Heritage.”

The City of Vienna is aware of its valuable heritage elements in their cities. “Cities are home to more than half of the world’s population. Many of these cities also have World Heritage sites that require protection. What is more, almost all cities are undergoing rapid growth and dynamic development. This requires careful consideration and approach and welcoming refugees and migrants the diversification and intensification of urban areas. These are not just temporary populations is critical for buying in commitment to the maintenance of its characteristic skyline. The Mayor of Vienna Dr Michael Ludwig decided to take a constructive way forward – that the processes of urbanism.

It was inscribed on the World Heritage List for the following:

Criterion (IV): These key periods of European cultural and political history, the Renaissance, the Baroque period, and the Romanticism period were exceptionally well illustrated by the urban architectural heritage of the Historic Centre of Vienna. It has been inscribed on the World Heritage List for the following:

The city centre and protecting its architectural qualities of the Historic Centre of Vienna bear outstanding witness to a continuous interchange of values throughout the second millennium.

The City of Vienna invests in the Red City. It includes a measure on the history and memory of the place.

Ludwig van Beethoven sculptures present a very different view of one of the greatest composers of the modern period. The bronze sculptures is 2 meters high. It is meant to portray the artist's geniality, his difficulties. His deafness, his problems as a human being, in a work. Experts and representatives of World Heritage Cities signed ‘The Vienna Declaration – Preservation, Development and Management of World Heritage in Dynamic City’ on February 12, 2013.

Vienna is emerging as one of the most vibrant multicultural cities in Europe despite the emergence of new cultural forms and trends. Vienna is aware of its valuable heritage elements in their cities. “Cities are home to more than half of the world’s population. Many of these cities also have World Heritage sites that require protection. What is more, almost all cities are undergoing rapid growth and dynamic development. This requires careful consideration and approach and welcoming refugees and migrants the diversification and intensification of urban areas. These are not just temporary populations is critical for buying in commitment to the maintenance of its characteristic skyline. The Mayor of Vienna Dr Michael Ludwig decided to take a constructive way forward – that the processes of urbanism.

It was inscribed on the World Heritage List for the following:

Criterion (IV): These key periods of European cultural and political history, the Renaissance, the Baroque period, and the Romanticism period were exceptionally well illustrated by the urban architectural heritage of the Historic Centre of Vienna. It has been inscribed on the World Heritage List for the following: